

North Carolina Drug and Alcohol Training and Policy Review

North Carolina Department of Transportation

RLS conducted a series of training classes for experienced and new managers. Reasonable suspicion training was also provided. Policies of established systems were reviewed and checked for being up-to-date. The policies of the new systems that recently joined the Community Transportation Program were reviewed for compliance and overall program implementation. A model policy was provided to assist in their policy formation. RLS also assisted NCDOT staff in the formulation of their state oversight policy and procedures. Over 40 policies were reviewed.
